Network for Investigation of Delirium : Unifying Scientists

Spring Greetings from NIDUS! We have been busy this winter and hope you enjoy reading about what we've been doing.

Announcing the Delirium Research Hub!

The NIDUS Delirium Research Hub, formerly the RRC Delirium Research Catalog, has officially launched! The Delirium Research Hub is a searchable "Table of Contents" for delirium research. Looking for potential collaborators? Start here! Want to publicize your work? Submit your study information to the hub today!

The Delirium Research Hub contains information about many completed and ongoing delirium studies, such as the type of outcome variables collected, delirium measures used, and other key study information that can be hard to find, such as availability of data-sharing.

Delirium Research Hub Study Submission:

If you are conducting or have completed a delirium study, you can submit your study information to the Delirium Research Hub through the online submission portal. This is a great way to publicize your work and connect with researchers working on similar topics. Questions? Contact nidus@bidmc.harvard.edu.
