NIDUS Pilots and Innovation Task Force announces:

Call for Proposals - NIDUS Pilot Grant Awards

NIDUS will award two $50,000 pilot grants for proposals related to delirium research. The purpose of these awards is to encourage innovative research that will advance investigation in delirium and lead to future grant funding.

Applications due November 7, 2018

Two application tracks are available: Junior Investigator or Established Investigator. Projects should be 1-year, and indirect costs are supported up to a capped maximum. Awards will be announced by March 1, 2019. Priority areas for the pilot awards are:

- Risk factors, prognosis, outcomes
- Pathophysiology, mechanisms, biomarkers, genomics and other –‘omics’ approaches
- Diagnostic tools and phenomenology
- Clinical interventions for prevention and treatment
